Date: Nov. 29

Do you realize that there's one easy-to-learn skill that can give you the upper-hand and make you MUCH more marketable?

Mastering the art of public speaking will give you a significant edge in your career and in your life. Why? Research shows that one of the top reasons people do not progress in their careers is a lack of presentation skills. Seventy percent of jobs today require some form of public speaking! Yet most people are not willing to learn to do it.

You have a great opportunity to gain a significant advantage. Acquire the skills that will give you a measure of influence that makes heads spin. Can you imagine how valued you will be by mastering a skill that others are afraid to even try? It's priceless!

Whether speaking to your employees, giving a sales presentation, presenting to a community organization, or simply talking to a small group, here are several ways you and your organization will benefit from The Nuts and Bolts of Public Speaking seminar.
